

CapeNature's flagship nature reserve, Kogelberg undergoes exciting new developments

The award-winning Kogelberg Nature Reserve nestled in the Cape Floristic Kingdom of Kleinmond will be expanding to Phase 2. At present the five Oudebosch mountain eco-cabins named after indigenous flora found in the area namely; Erica, Marsh Rose, Fire Lily, Iris and Everlasting Daisy, each sleep four people and consist of two bedrooms, one bathroom, one en-suite, and a spacious kitchen, lounge and dining area.

The new Phase 2 will boast three six-sleeper units to accommodate larger groups with ease, five two-sleep units for couples and an additional eco-pool.

This tourist destination has been carefully planned using green building technology. The glass fronted eco-cabins will afford occupants unique breath-taking views of the reserve.

CapeNature thanks you for your continued support and we apologise for any inconvenience during this construction period.
